

Short Author Guidelines

Authors are kindly asked to pay attention to the information given below regarding the conference stages.

1. Authors are invited to submit abstracts of no more than 350 words. The abstract should concisely summarize a new research study or a review of existing research that leads to new conclusions on a given topic.
2. Upon acceptance of the abstract, authors will be invited to submit an extended abstract of 2,500 to 4,000 words, incorporating at least four citations from recent research published within the last five years. The total number of references must be between 10 and 20, with self-citations limited to two per author.
3. The extended abstract will undergo a peer review process after being checked for plagiarism. If plagiarism is detected, authors will be required to revise and resubmit their manuscript. If the resubmitted version still contains more than 20% plagiarized content, it will be rejected.
4. After peer review, if the extended abstract is accepted, authors may be asked to revise and correct further their work. The revised version will undergo a final quality and plagiarism check before final approval.
5. Accepted contributions may be presented in person or online without requiring physical attendance at the conference. Authors can submit their abstract now and decide later whether they wish to present in person or online. Further details on the "online presentation" option will be provided upon acceptance.
6. Following the conference presentations and considering reviewers' and editors' comments, authors of outstanding papers will be invited to submit an extended version (8,000 to 12,000 words) of their conference paper for publication in an international journal.
7. The extended abstract must be enhanced based on feedback from the conference review process and discussions. At least 60% of the content in the journal article must be new, with improved exposition. While conference papers present preliminary results, journal articles should provide comprehensive research findings, including in-depth discussion and clear conclusions.
